Restaurant

Situated on the north shore of St. Croix, (the Gay & Lesbian friendly Caribbean). The Cormorant Beach Club is the only gay owned and operated hotel on St. Croix. Our ocean front rooms and suites are spread over six acres of palm-studded white sand beach, where you'll enjoy romantic seaside dinning, a lively open-air bar, attentive staff, large fresh water pool, great beach snorkeling and lots of relaxation.

The Cormorant isn't a scene, but it's scenic. Clothing isn't optional at our pool, but then your lover already knows what you look like. Our rooms do not have a kitchenette, but then the Cormorant has one of the best restaurants on the island and the only one, where anyone can hold hands, suck face or do a Cher imitation. Cormorant vacations start at $110 single and $130 double per night.

editor's note

The Hotlanta 100 has been several months in the making. I have to say—it's a labor of love. Although Atlanta is not the city of my birth—I have been here for some time and I'm proud to call it home.

From my perspective, I've watched the city's gay community grow from small and quiet when I arrived in the late '80s, to loud and demanding in the '90s. In the year 2001, Atlanta's gay community is accomplished and comfortable.

Same-sex partners can register their relationship with the city government. That same city government has in place non-discrimination clauses in employment and housing. In Atlanta proper, we have gay representation on the city council. In our suburbs we even have an openly gay mayor and Georgia's archaic sodomy law is now a thing of the past.

In other words—it's a great time to be gay in Atlanta.

With your help we've painstakingly put together this incredible issue that showcases the best of Atlanta's gay community. In these pages you'll see many places and things you've come to love about our fair city.

More important are the people you'll find in these pages—most of them gay—though you'll find an honorary heterosexual or two that you chose because of some positive contribution they've made.

On that note I must say—there were so many incredible nominations—I only wish we had room for many more. With that in mind, please don't hesitate to get your nominations in right away for next year!

The Face of Gay Atlanta

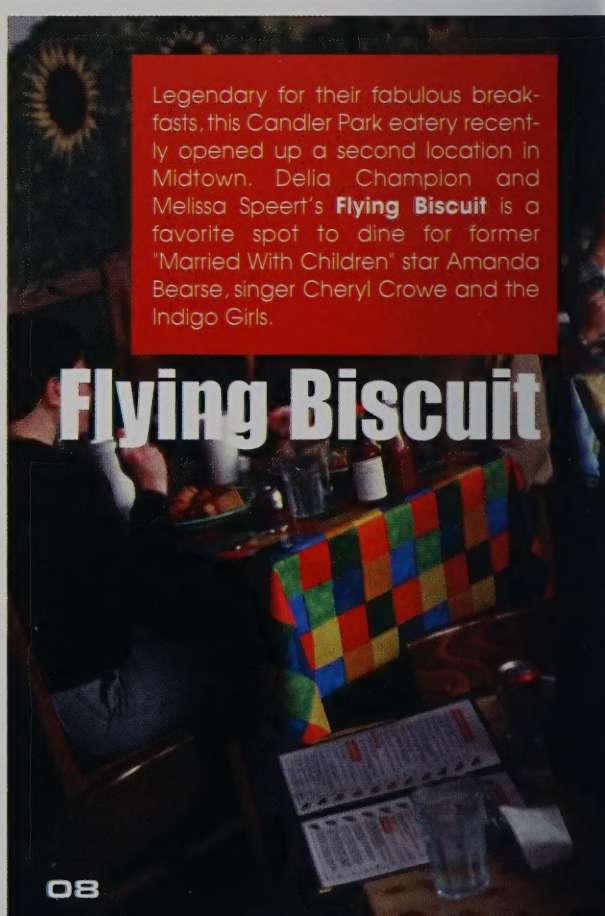
In the year 2001 Atlanta's gay population is a voice heard loud and clear. Indeed, we truly are everywhere. Here's your chance to get a peek at the diversity that makes up our community.

The Hotlanta 100 is exactly what the name implies: 100 people, places and things as chosen by you, the reader. Over the past few months we've been hard at work collecting and reviewing your nominations in the various categories.

The response was exciting. Clearly, gay and lesbian Atlanta is all grown up and a force to be reckoned with. We have our own businesses, restaurants, clubs, politicians, artists, television programs and much, much more.

As you peruse these pages you'll see places and faces familiar and some you're meeting for the first time. In fact, you may even see yourself—or someone very much like you.

We're proud to bring you this glimpse of all the things that make Atlanta a wonderful place for everyone.



Legendary for their fabulous breakfasts, this Candler Park eatery recently opened up a second location in Midtown. Delia Champion and Melissa Speert's Flying Biscuit is a favorite spot to dine for former "Married With Children" star Amanda Bearse, singer Cheryl Crowe and the Indigo Girls.

Big Red Tomato

Louis Spetrini and Brad Williams' Midtown Italian Bistro Big Red Tomato has been a hit from virtually the moment Spetrini laid hands on the spot. Previously one of those seemingly cursed buildings that nothing ever worked in, Spetrini put together a jazzed-up Italian menu that attracts throngs of Midtown dwellers.

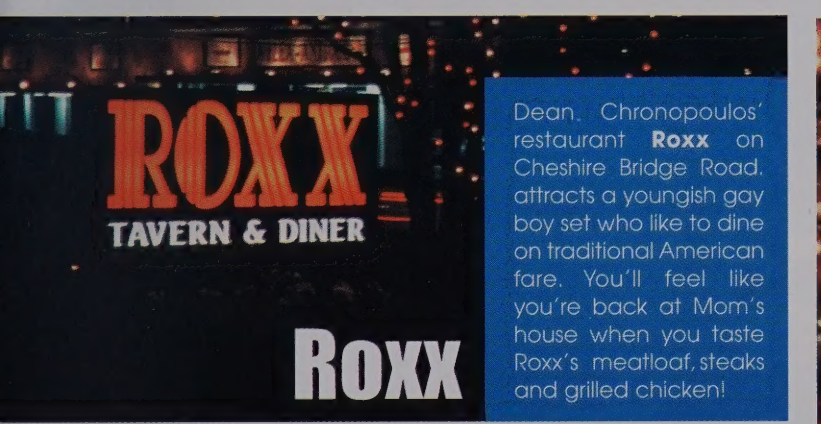
10th & Myrtle

Rich Selser's 10th & Myrtle in Midtown serves fun American food in an upscale nouveau atmosphere. Try fabulous foods like pesto chicken Linguini or pork chops with a candied walnut glaze and winter vegetables—you'll never be disappointed.



Roxx

Dean. Chronopoulos' restaurant Roxx on Cheshire Bridge Road. attracts a youngish gay boy set who like to dine on traditional American fare. You'll feel like you're back at Mom's house when you taste Roxx's meatloaf, steaks and grilled chicken!

Roman Lily Cafe

Calavino Donati's the Roman Lily Cafe in Old Fourth Ward is very popular with lesbians and gay men. Undoubtedly it's because the menu is so superb! In addition to fabulous vegetarian food, you'll also find such tasty delectables as banana bread with carmelized ice cream, Romano fried chicken and grilled lamb tenderloin.

THE COLLECTION OF A LIFETIME
by Thomasville®

Tropical Dreams

The Ernest Hemingway Collection contains this dream of a bed, fashioned with scrolling iron head- and footboards, whose curving iron posts converge at the apex of the canopy frame. Draped or undraped, the Havana Iron Canopy Bed appeals to the romantic in all of us. It measures 63¼ x 85⅛ x 78⅜ (height) in queen size. King size is also available.

Out of Africa

Somewhere out in the wilds of Africa, a great author and journalist sat and wrote at a table not unlike this leather-topped, hardwood Nairobi Safari writing desk (68 x 32 x 30½ inches height) from The Ernest Hemingway Collection by Thomasville. Hemingway would have sat in a folding Nairobi Safari chair similar to the one featured here. Shown with the desk and chair is the Paraiso screen, fashioned from natural, woven water-hyacinth.

5 Hot Clubs

If high energy music and muscled, shirtless gay men are what turns you on, then you'll probably agree with our readers that picked Ground Zero as their fave nightspot for dancing up a storm!

Ground Zero

A longtime favorite gay spot for late night dancing and partying, Backstreet in Midtown is virtually a historic Atlanta landmark—it opened originally in 1976. Just think of all the queers that have passed through those doors!

MJQ

Located in a funky underground garage on Ponce de Leon, MJQ attracts a mixed alterna-crowd with a big gay following that enjoys live music.

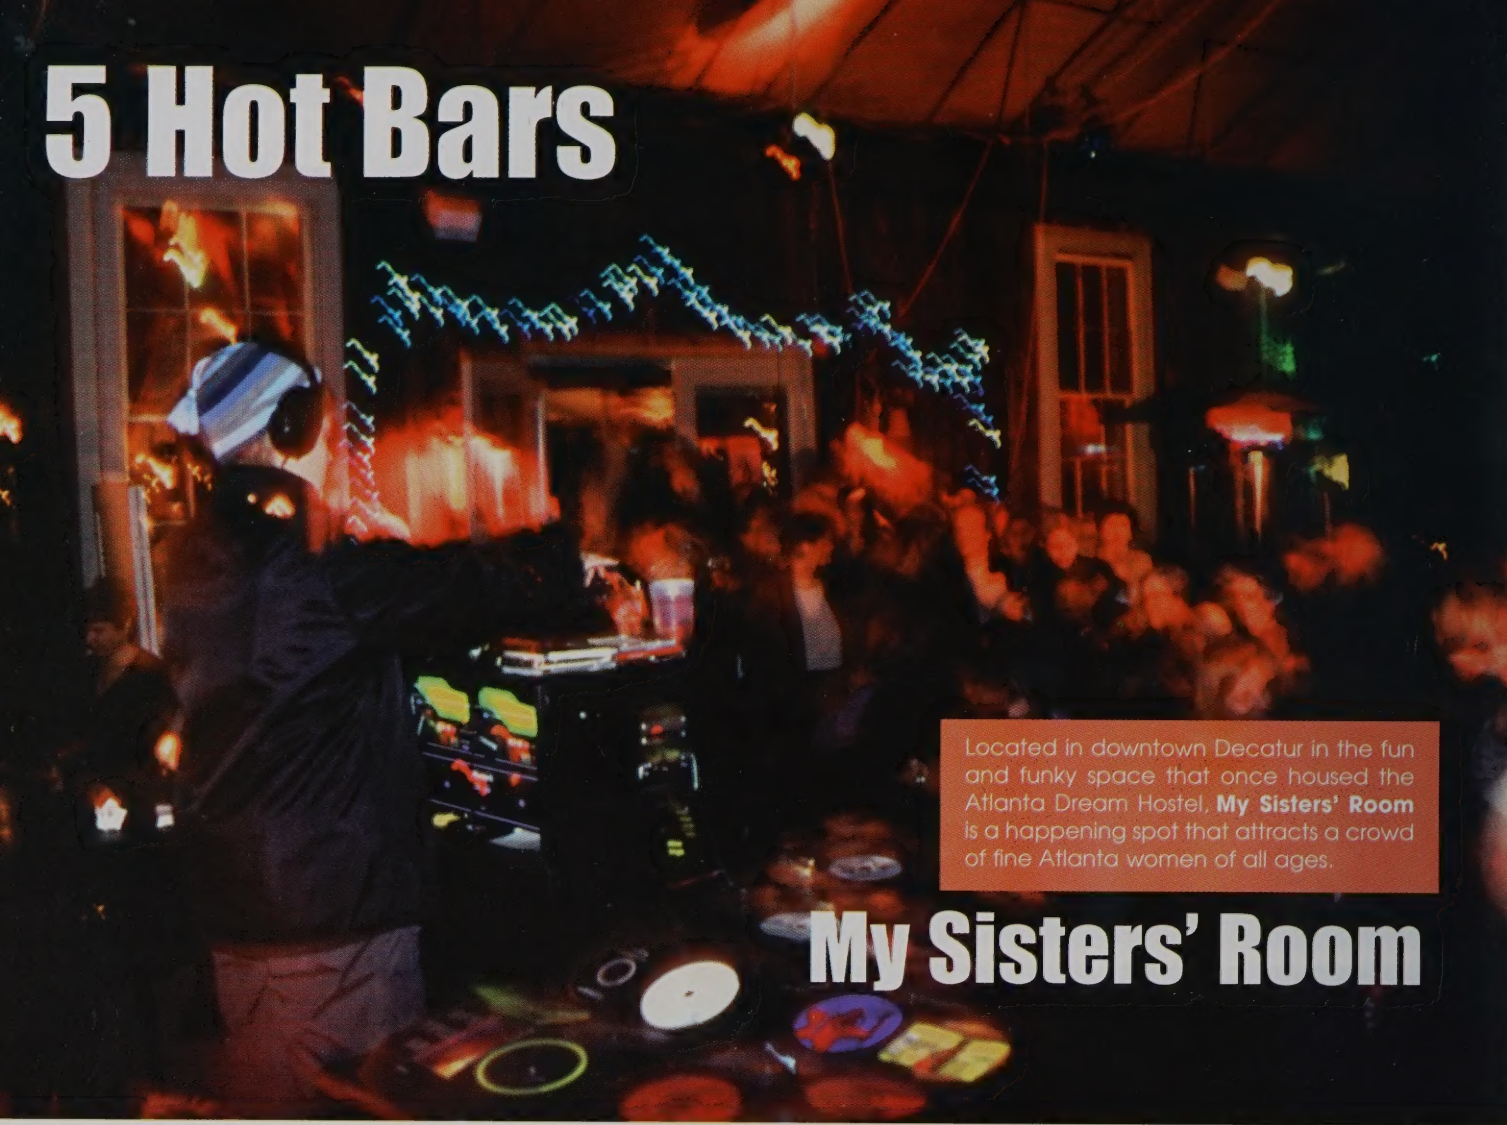
Traxx

A popular mainstay in the African-American gay and lesbian community, it's not surprising to see just about anybody at Traxx, a multi-level dance palace in downtown Atlanta.

1150

Located in a massive space that once housed a theater and the now defunct nightclub Petrus, 1150 was chosen by our readers as one of the most comfortable places to mingle in a mixed crowd of gay and straight. The nightspot boasts a cutting edge gallery, stunning lighting and hot music.

5 Hot Bars



Located in downtown Decatur in the fun and funky space that once housed the Atlanta Dream Hostel, My Sisters' Room is a happening spot that attracts a crowd of fine Atlanta women of all ages.

My Sisters' Room

Oscar's

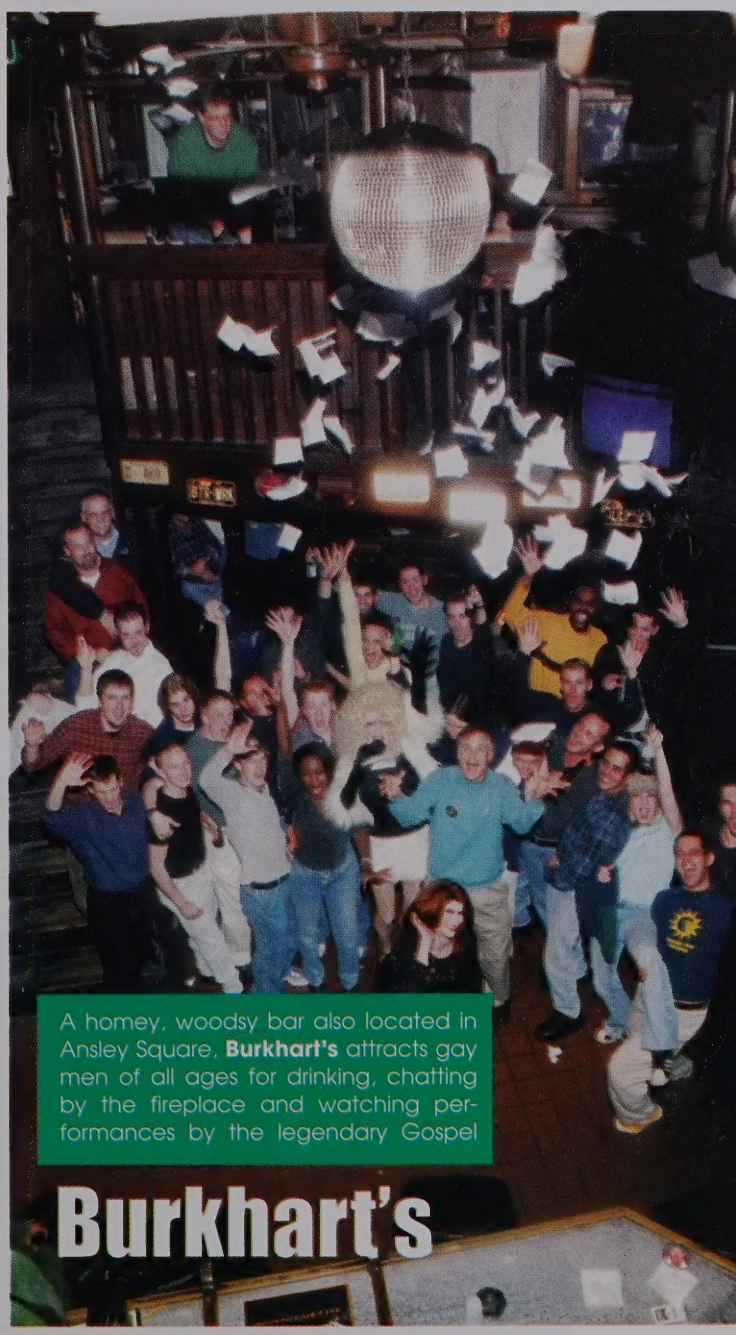
Oscar's is the latest addition to the Piedmont Avenue shopping center known as Ansley Square. Adjacent to Ansley Mall, this storefront bar owned by Randy Mcleod and Micheal Sanders now brings the total number of gay nightspots within steps of each other to a total of four! This welcome addition to the area is sleek and stylized with multiple video monitors.

Mary's

The re-birth of East Atlanta in the late '90s was due largely in part to many of the gay residents in the surrounding neighborhoods who wanted a shopping and entertainment district to call their own. It makes sense, of course, that we'd end up with a fun gay bar like Mary's right on the corner of Glenwood and Flat Shoals. Spread out on two levels, the bar attracts mostly residents of the surrounding area and a mix of just about every age group to watch videos, play pool and taste the latest libations.

Drag queens and go-go boys: The Metro started off its life on the corner of Sixth and Cypress Streets in the early '90s. After that space was razed for expected Olympic development, the bar relocated to 1080 Peachtree. Expanding to a much larger space allowed for the installation of multiple video monitors and a kinky, urban interior. These days the bar packs 'em in with drag shows and specialty nights, like their weekly Latin night, which brings out Atlanta's gay Latinos en masse.

The Metro



A homey, woodsy bar also located in Ansley Square, Burkhart's attracts gay men of all ages for drinking, chatting by the fireplace and watching performances by the legendary Gospel

5 Hot Businesses

Outwrite Books

Phillip Rafshoon's gay bookstore Outwrite Books originally opened in the Midtown Promenade Shopping Center just down the street from where it is today. The eventual move was a smart one by Rafshoon—it put his business dead center in an area surrounded by numerous spots frequented by gay men. Today Outwrite Books serves as an anchor for the Midtown gay scene.

Cachet Antiques

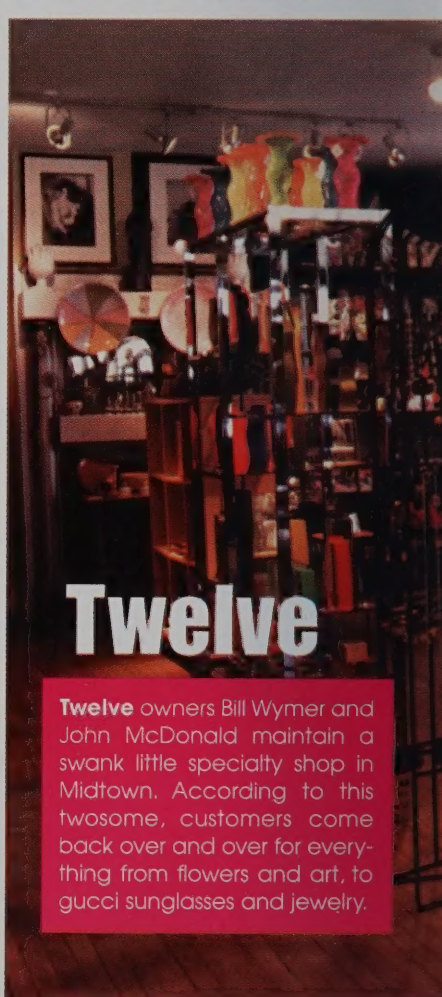
Cachet Antiques jumped in at the beginning of the Cheshire Bridge antiques renaissance in 1992. Owner Robert Ahlers continues to ride the crest of success with over 60 dealers selling everything from country originals to '50s kitsch.

Boy Next Door

David Boswell's store, Boy Next Door, sells the hottest new clothing for gay boys on the prowl! Be it club wear or downright trendy and chic, you're sure to find it here.

Intaglia

Intaglia owners Tim Intagliata and Jerri Spiers have captured the hearts of many new gay couples setting up house with their choice selection of home furnishings. Looking for a new sofa or a festive armoire? Chances are you'll find it here.



Twelve

Twelve owners Bill Wymer and John McDonald maintain a swank little specialty shop in Midtown. According to this twosome, customers come back over and over for everything from flowers and art, to gucci sunglasses and jewelry.

"Caring for Our Community"

Readers in Atlanta, Birmingham, Nashville and New Orleans will be excited to know SOVO magazine's first annual gay Home and Garden issue hits the streets Friday Sept. 14.

Packed full of beautiful houses, condos, apartments and lofts—look for in-depth profiles of owners and designers, as well as their inside tips on how to achieve what you're looking for in a living environment.

For many in the South, it's that time of year when the leaves are just beginning to change color. Learn how to keep your landscaping and gardening at its most beautiful from our outdoor experts. We'll also tell you where the best prices are for owners and renters—as well as where to find the most enticing up and coming queer neighborhoods.

Thanks, David.

Actors' Express

With 13 years of imaginative entertaining under their belt, Actors' Express has inspired the gay community with its productions of "Love! Valour! Compassion!," "The Dying Gaul," "As Bees in Honey Drown," "Jeffrey," and "The Harvey Milk Show."

Since opening its doors on Elizabeth Avenue in Forth Ward five years ago, Dad's Garage has entertained Atlanta with improvisational comedy, as well as original theatrical works. "Poor Superman," "Psycho Beach Party," and "O Happy Day" are among the important works that Dad's Garage has produced for an ever-growing audience of gay fans.

Dad's Garage

The Center for Puppetry Arts

The Center for Puppetry Arts originally opened in 1978 with a kick-off visit by Muppets creator Jim Henson and one of his favorite creations, Kermit the Frog. Housed in a former school building to which $9 million in renovations have been made, the three-story center is unique around the globe. It includes three theaters, a museum library, gift shop and much more. Over the years the center has produced puppet shows for adults and children, including the New Directions Series, Xperimental Puppetry Theatre and the annual Summer Festival.

5 Hot Theaters

Push Push Theater Company

Push Push Theater Company broke major ground when it chose to open in the once-industrial district on Zonolite Avenue. The creative team of Tim Habeger, Rob Nixon and Shelby Hofer continue to push the envelope with productions of "The Glass Mengerie" and "Tirade for Three." Among other noteworthy efforts, Push Push has produced the works of David Mamet, Tennessee Williams and Anton Chekov.

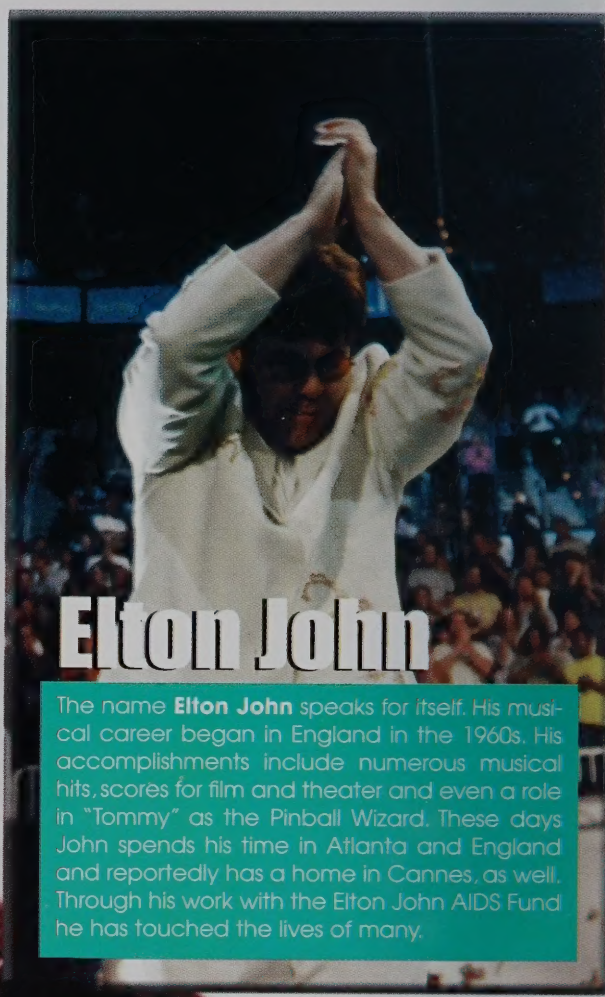
7 Stages

A Little Five Points success story, 7 Stages has showcased many groundbreaking performances in Atlanta over the past 23 years. Of note is playwright-in-residence Jim Grimsley, who has given us such celebrated works as "Dream Boy," "Decline and Fall of the Rest," "Math and Aftermath" and "Mr. Universe." The current gem from Grimsley, a lurid tell of sexual experience, is entitled "In Berlin." In addition, 7 Stages is a favorite on the performance circuit, having hosted such notables as Quentin Crisp, Annie Sprinkle, Karen Finley and the Stuffed Puppet Theatre.

5 Hot Musicians

Michelle Malone

With the release of her seventh studio album "Hello Out There," Michelle Malone is seemingly unstoppable. She has sold more than 15,000 copies of her CD "Homegrown" and to date has sold more than 100,000 CDs in a career that dates back to 1987.

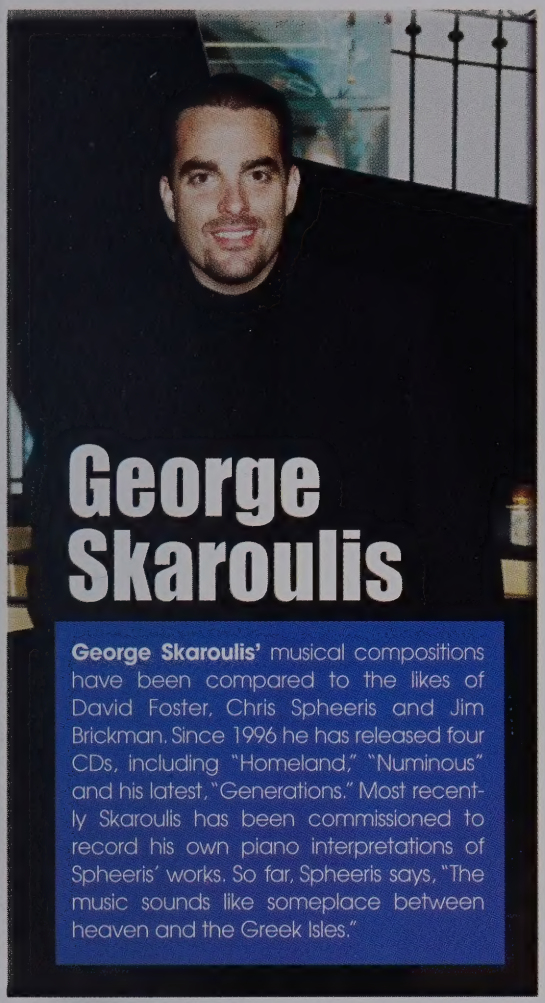


Elton John

The name Elton John speaks for itself. His musical career began in England in the 1960s. His accomplishments include numerous musical hits, scores for film and theater and even a role in "Tommy" as the Pinball Wizard. These days John spends his time in Atlanta and England and reportedly has a home in Cannes, as well. Through his work with the Elton John AIDS Fund he has touched the lives of many.

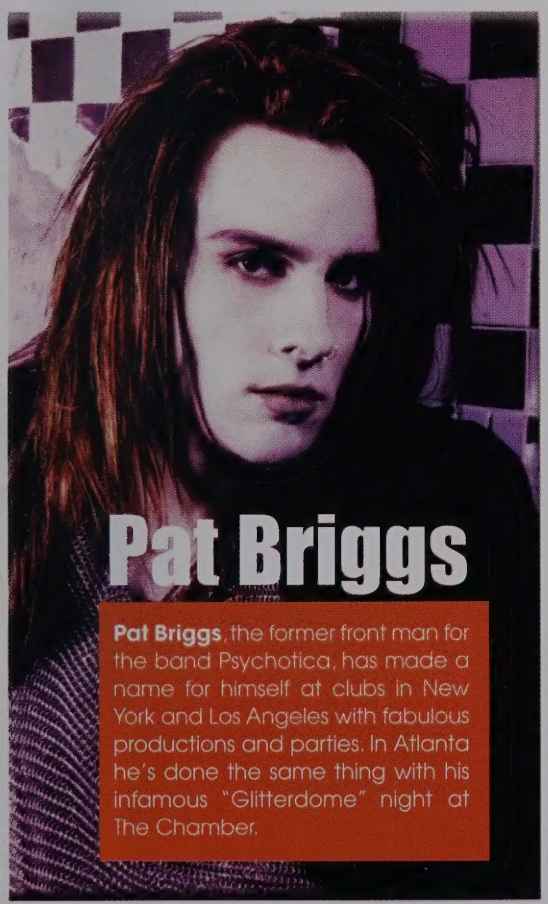
Indigo Girls

Grammy winners the Indigo Girls, both longtime Atlanta residents (Amy Ray is actually a native, Emily Saliers is from Connecticut), have made history with their musical contributions to the world. From the single "Closer to Fine" to the albums "Swamp Ophelia" and "Shaming of the Sun," as well as their contributions to the soundtrack for "Boys on the Side," the Indigo Girls continue to garner legions of fans with their folksy, rockin' blend of music.



George Skaroulis

George Skaroulis' musical compositions have been compared to the likes of David Foster, Chris Spheeris and Jim Brickman. Since 1996 he has released four CDs, including "Homeland," "Numinous" and his latest, "Generations." Most recently Skaroulis has been commissioned to record his own piano interpretations of Spheeris' works. So far, Spheeris says, "The music sounds like someplace between heaven and the Greek Isles."



Pat Briggs

Pat Briggs, the former front man for the band Psychotica, has made a name for himself at clubs in New York and Los Angeles with fabulous productions and parties. In Atlanta he's done the same thing with his infamous "Glitterdome" night at The Chamber.

Motion

Motion is the circuit boy's drag performer of choice. Long a performer on the Atlanta scene, she's lauded for her creative costuming and high energy dance skills.

Trina Saxxon

Trina Saxxon began her career in the late '80s headlining with the retro-comedy-drag performance troupe Eleganza. In addition to a starring role in the underground cult film "Have You Seen Krystal Lite?" Saxxon has made regular appearances on the public access TV show, "Peg: Mouth of the South."

EJ Aviance

EJ Aviance is a regular at clubs like the Metro and The Chamber's monthly Glitterdome night. Unlike many in the often very traditional Southern drag scene, EJ likes to experiment with his appearance, using his body and face as a canvas.

5 Hot Drag Queens

Charlie Brown

A 30-year veteran of the Atlanta drag entertainment scene, Charlie Brown continues to pack 'em in with her southern comedic flare and seemingly never-ending barrage of one-liners aimed at unsuspecting customers. A resident of Austell, Georgia, Brown heads up "Charlie Brown's X-Rated Cabaret" every week at Backstreet in Midtown. She's also been featured on HBO.

Tina DeVore

Tina DeVore is a legend in her own time. Long a favorite among Burkhart's Gospel Girls fans, she also writes a column about the local cross-dressing entertainment scene called Draggin' it Out.

Charone Pagett

A regular at WRFG 89.3FM for the past seven years, Charone Pagett hosts and produces "Lambda Radio Report," a weekly 30-minute infotainment show aimed at Atlanta's queer community. Since her initial involvement with WRFG, she has also produced the long-running show "Gay Graffitti" and contributed to such programs as "Still Ain't Satisfied." Originally from Greensboro, N.C., Charone has called Atlanta home since 1989.

Ooh La La

"Ooh La La" producer Linda Paris knows a good bad thing when she sees it! A 10-year veteran of Atlanta's public access station People TV, Paris lampoons politics, entertainment, religion and just about every unspeakable topic you can think of with her own inimitable style.

The DeAundra Peek Show

"The DeAundra Peek Show" just goes on and on and on forever! As long as there's DeAundra you can bet producer Dick Richards will continue to churn out this funky fun video show that highlights the monotone talents of this unusual, but charming performer. Ever heard her sing? It's something else.

TV & Radio: 5 Hot Productions

Peg: Mouth of the South

"Peg: Mouth of the South" is hosted by a flame-haired hostess known as Peg. Wacky and wise-cracking, Peg shares the stage with Trina Saxxon, Evelyn Mimms and a roving reporter named Turtle. Each week these jokesters comment on current affairs, tell a few jokes, lip-sync a song or two and interview a celebrity guest. Taped before a live audience, it's raw, underground Atlanta at its best. You can catch it weekly on People TV.

Rocket TV

Georgia State University Television is the outlet for "Rocket TV," a weekly series produced and hosted by Scotty Mullen. Each week, Mullen and his cast of Rocket girls and boys bust up stereotypes and open new doors with location profiles, celebrity interviews and thought-provoking commentary.

5 Hot DJs

Chip Davis

Chip Davis has been a regular at such places as the Rarity and Ground Zero. Originally from Grand Rapids, Mich., he's spent the past four years in Atlanta. In addition to his busy DJ career, Davis also produces corporate trade shows and has worked as an agent for the Screen Actor's Guild.

Bill Berdeaux

Bill Berdeaux is from Montgomery, Alabama. Since coming to Atlanta in 1995, he's played at Backstreet, Blake's and the Otherside. He keeps his fans happy and sweaty by playing a mix of circuit house, progressive house and trance.

Al Opecia

Al Opecia is the main man at the Metro in Midtown. A native Atlantan, he spent the late '70s and most of the '80s in New York City. After kicking off his DJ career in Madrid, Spain in 1988, he returned to Atlanta in 1991. Since that time he's spun at Velvet, March, Backstreet and Kaya, among others.

DJ Chai

Originally from Thailand, DJ Chai has been in Atlanta for three years. At Ground Zero he plays a fun mix of progressive house and high energy trance.

Craig Spy spins at Ground Zero and Blake's. He plays high energy music with happy up vocals for raver kids and the circuit crowd. Originally from Michigan, he's been in Atlanta for five years.
